

Blended Intensive Program Goethe University

"Leadership: Understanding Group Dynamics"

The Blended Intensive Program (BIP) offers Master students from partner universities of Goethe University Frankfurt the unique experience of an ERASMUS-funded five day program (+ two hybrid sessions pre/post) to earn 6ETCS abroad.

"Leadership: Understanding Group Dynamics" will provide a typical Training Group (T-Group) setting, which is a structured experiential learning setting, designed to enhance participants' understanding of group dynamics, interpersonal processes, authority, foundations of collaboration and self-awareness. Within this unstructured small-group context (15 participants/group; two groups), learning emerges from the direct examination of behavior and interaction as they occur in the "here and now." Participants actively engage in observation, feedback, and reflection to develop insight into patterns of communication, influence, leadership, and emotional response.

The program is organized by Prof. Dr. Annika Wolf (Adjunct Professor of Strategic Management and a certified group dynamics leader with national and international experience in T-Groups).
