

'I've finished my Secondary School education. And now what?'
SEG has been educating leaders of thought and action since 1911. Today, at a time when society recognises the importance of good economic management more than ever, we are here to build solutions: ISEG - 111 years of a School of Firsts

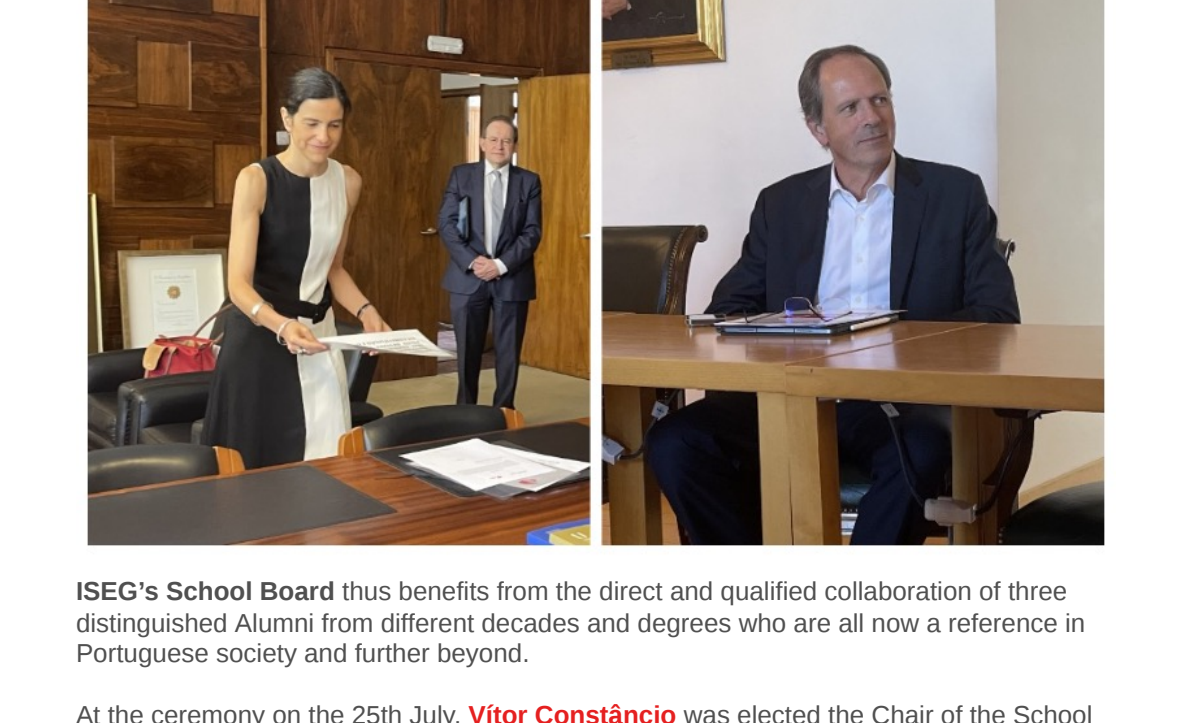

Here at ISEG we do our part. We combine the best and most demanding education which prepares us in the best way for the job market, as we count on a very well-prepared faculty, excellent research centres, a non-faculty staff that invests, labors, sweat and tears to support each and every student who comes here in search of the dream to have the largest community of alumni of Economics and Management in Portugal; yet we also manage to be what many consider to be a second home, not only due to the excellent relationship with all the faculty, non-faculty staff and students from previous years, but also due to a factor that can't be copied nor denied: there's ISEG'S DNA!

Swearing-in of the external members elected to ISEG's School Board

The Magnificent Rector of Universidade de Lisboa, Prof. Luis Ferreira, was present at the swearing-in of the external members elected to ISEG's School Board, Vitor Constância and Madalena Cascais Tomé.

The swearing-in was also attended by the Chair of the General Board of the University, Carlos Pina, the Vice-Rector, Prof. João Pereira, the Dean of ISEG, Prof. Clara Raposo, and the interim Chair of ISEG's School Board, Prof. Mário Caldeira, and also Pedro Castory Almeida.

ISEG's School Board thus benefits from the direct and qualified collaboration of three distinguished Alumni from different decades and degrees who are all now a reference in Portuguese society and further beyond.

At the ceremony on the 25th July, Vitor Constância was elected the Chair of the School Board.

In this last edition before we take a summer break, we highlight the swearing-in of the external members elected to ISEG's School Board, our student Diogo Pombo's victory in an international eSports competition, and also Professor Joaquim Sarmiento's book on 'Public Private Partnerships Renegotiations in Transportation'.

The following are cited in this number: António Mendonça, Carolina Afonso, Clara Raposo, Francisco Louçã, Joana Santos Silva, João Duque, Joaquim Sarmiento, Manuel Ennes Ferreira, Manuel Mira Godinho, Maria Rosa Borges, Nuno Crato, Paulo Trigo Pereira and Vera Gouveia Barros

The eve of the silly season

- Clara Raposo writes about the "social recognition of the University" in Portugal, in an article with data and analysis from Manuel Mira.
Paulo Trigo Pereira considers that taking advantage of inflation to exceed budget targets is not the most appropriate policy.
Francisco Louçã asks: "What if we put an end to the Olympic Games?"
João Duque discusses then charts for the execution of the budget - and the disappearance of the budget values column.
Manuel Ennes Ferreira writes about Angola and the "return of those who never went".
Clara Raposo evaluates management in Portugal and suggests how ISEG can improve its quality.
Francisco Louçã stresses that the "systems we call democracies are paradoxical constructions".
Paulo Trigo Pereira highlights the vulnerability of democracies to autocracies.
An article by Vera Gouveia Barros in ECO, "Overcoming the discussion about rankings".
Joaquim Sarmiento's first in-person meeting with António Costa in Parliament.
Clara Raposo recommends what to read this summer in Exame magazine.
António Mendonça interviewed: "Double-digit inflation is a perfectly catastrophic situation".
Chronicle by Joana Santos Silva in RH Magazine, "Tempus fugit and Micro-instants".
Article by Maria Rosa Borges in the Jornal Económico, "Careers in Public Higher Education".
Clara Raposo explains what makes ISEG different, in Jornal Económico.
João Duque says that the tourism sector has given a strong boost to the economy - which should continue during other quarters.
Carolina Afonso writes about the "Metaverse and the opportunities in Retail", in Imagens de Marca.
João Duque comments on "Artemis Aberta" about the ECB's announcement that interest rates will increase by 0.5 percentage points.
The Portuguese Association of Young Pharmacists (APJF) signed a cooperation agreement with ISEG Executive Education.
The "Women on Boards" Executive Programme returns to ISEG in November.
Nuno Crato talks about the motivation cycle in learning on the "Educating has Science" podcast.
Francisco Louçã gives an account of the first State of the Nation debate of the absolute majority Socialist government.

Research news

Public Private Partnerships Renegotiations in Transportation | Book
Professor Joaquim Miranda Sarmiento is the co-author of the book entitled "Public Private Partnerships Renegotiations in Transportation - Case Studies from Portugal", published by Springer.

Portuguese Economic Journal
A new post on the Portuguese Economy Research Report blog, the PEJ blog dedicated to disseminating research on the Portuguese economy (these are not papers that are published in the Journal):
Economic austerity and the political environment

Call for sessions and posters for the EADI CESA Lisbon Conference, 2023
ISEG is going to host an international conference on Development Studies in 2023. The "EADI CESA Lisbon Conference, 2023: Towards New Rhythms of Development", which is organized by the European Association of Development Research and Training Institutes (EADI), with the support of CESA, it will take place from the 10th to the 13th July next year.

Student news

Diogo "Tuga810" Pombo is the world champion of FIFA clubs (eSports)
Our Masters' student Diogo Pombo, better known as "Tuga810" on the virtual turf of the FIFA video game, has made history by becoming the world eSoccer champion by the Spanish Movistar Riders on winning the FIFAe Club World Cup in the Bella Arena in Copenhagen.
Many congratulations Diogo!

What's Up @ ISEG

The 7th Meeting of the Network for Teaching Portuguese Abroad
ISEG hosted the 7th Meeting of the Network for Teaching Portuguese Abroad.
Organized by Instituto Camões, the event took place last Tuesday, the 26th, in the CGD Auditorium.
The session was addressed by Paulo Castelo, the Secretary of State for Portuguese Communities.

Alumni em Destaque

Banco Montepio confirms Pedro Leitão as its CEO
The former professor is to continue as Chair of Banco Montepio's Executive Committee, after the Bank of Portugal gave the green light to the composition of the Board of Directors.
In addition to having been a professor at ISEG, the manager also has a degree in Economics and a Masters in Administration and Management from our school.

Pedro Dominguihos: "The approved applications demonstrate a high level of innovation and ambition"
Appointed by António Costa to head up the National Commission for Monitoring the Recovery and Resilience Plan (PRR), alumni Pedro Dominguihos explains in an interview how universities and polytechnics have worked in conjunction with companies to help transform the country.

OPEN MINDS, GRAB THE HOLIDAYS!
www.iseg.ulisboa.pt